THANKS

Thank you to all the bands for contributing their music to our website and first compilation! The team members at BandSoup have been both pleasantly surprised and blown away by the tremendous untapped talent that have uploaded their music to the main site so far. We are very excited to present this first project to music fans all over the world and look forward to hearing more from everyone in the future.

To all fans, readers, and casual music nerds that stumbled upon this free download—this is just a small taste of the fantastic music that is uploaded daily to our website. Make sure to check back in with us, our blog, and as always—if you like what you hear—support the artists!
